

Discoveries below the tie-beam on the nave east wall include part of a Doom or Last Judgement painting with resurrected souls rising from coffins and grouped before the gates of heaven; also, angels blowing trumpets on the walls of heaven.

